The Art of SHORT WRITING

made lineal and legible as the Common long Hand

By Samuel Lane

W & M ?

London

Printed for the Author at ye Hand and Pen in Ball Alley in Gravel Lane near Houndsditch without Aldgate Where Such as desire may be expeditiously taught Writing, Arithmetick Merchants Accounts & Shorthand.

Courteous Reader.

The Consideration of the great Benefit that ye Knowledge of this Art might be to the Clergy & all others that have occasion to write much was the inducement to this Publication that every one might have an Opportunity to learn this most necessary Art by which as much may be written in one hour as by the Common Long Hand in six or more.

Short Hand is by this method made lineal as may be seen in the last Page & to be read with as great freedom as ye Long Hand For any word written by this method except the Abbreviated Words may be spelt as if it were written by the Common Long Hand.

The Objections that are generally made against the learning this Art are First that it spoils their spelling & secondly yt. it burdens the memory. To the first I answer that by this method you spell as exactly as in the long hand Quiescent or superfluous Letters being only omitted To the second that theres no Art whatsoever but requires some pains towards the Attainment of it. To remove this Objection & to make the Art very speedy I have abbreviated the common words that so frequently occur in every Discourse which when once perfectly learnt their frequency will so ingraft them in the memory that they can never be forgotten nor any ways prove burdensome to it.

The Rules for learning this Art are all laid down in such a plain and easie manner that any Person may learn it without a Teacher This I would advise the Learner that he be perfect in one Rule before he proceed to ye next But if any thing herein should seem difficult to the Learner I shall be ready to assist him And if what I have here done prove of any advantage to the Publick I have my Aim & am

Yours

The Alphabet and what word each Letter stands for when written alone

a	/	a
b	ı	be
d	ↄ	do
e	o	he
f ph	⅂	of
g j	⅄	God
h	h	his
i	.	I or eye
c k	∩	king
l	∪	lord
m	—	my
n	-	in
o	∠	O or oh
p	σ	power
qu	q	quiet
r	ρ	righteous
c s	⌈	self
t	/	! the or thee
u	\	you or yeev
v	∨	vice
w	∧	we
x	x	Christ
y	ϒ	ye or yea
z	z	israel

Observations on the Letters

A & T being alike are thus distinguished A is made from ỹ bottom to ỹ top T from ỹ top to the bottom.

One Character serves for f and ph.

One Character serves for g and j.

For C we sometimes use ∩ & sometimes ⌈ according as ỹ sound is either like k or s.

Qu always coming together are exprest by one Character.

AEIOU & Y after a Consonant are Vowels all the other letters be consonants.

Ex at the beginning of a word are exprest by x alone.

Double Letters

bh	h	dw	ↄ	tw	∧	sc	∂
ch	⟨	lw	∧	lp	ω	sk	∂
th	c	rw	℞	rp	℟	sp	∽
wh	∟	sw	⌈	rs	⌐	st	ϑ

Note When ∟ is at the beginning of a word it is wh in the middle bm.

ᵛ ⅂ ⅄ ⅂ ∽ ᵛ ⅂

Double & Treble Consonants

Note a little Stroke drawn from a consonant signifies an R

bl		gr		sn		hb		mf		rd

In this Art we seldom write a Vowel by its proper Character (unless it be at ẏ beginning of a word or else when 2 Vowels come together) but they are to be understood by certain places appointed for them about the other Letters as in ẏ underwritten Examples

The places of the Vowels.

B a e i o u. D M P

If a Word begin with a single double or treble consonant and end with a Vowel write your single double or treble consonant & for the Vowel put a tittle in its proper place as may		see		pay		thy		who		hue

lo		by		sue		day		no		die
due		so		tree		rue		why		way

Quiescent Letters are to be omitted as c before k, u after g, w after a, y after a, gh & ugh when they come together in the middle or end of a Word & when y^e same conson.^t is doubled one is only used

In many Sillables E may be properly written as bec		def		gest		meh		sel

bed		deg		get		ment		seph
bef		del		hed		mber		ser
beg		dem		hel		mer		sert
beh		den		heth		met		sest

all		as		ink		epact
am		at		err		eskew
an		end		old		empty

When 2 Vowels come together in ye beginning or middle of a Word & one only is sounded the other may be left out as

each		bread		weak		stream
eat		breed		week		wealth
beer		dear		beaf		dead
Easter		either		deal		speech

When 2 Vowels come together in ye beginning of a Word and neither of them can be spared without spoiling ye sound ~ thereof write the Character of the first Vowel and in ye place of the second set the consonant or consonants that follow as

Oar.....		Oil.....		Oat.....

Sometimes one Vowel may be changed into E final as did		cool		ail		ear

When 2 or 3 Vowels come together in ye middle or end of a Word & none of them can be spared make a large tittle or an (o) for ye first Vowel and place ye Consonants or vowel following in their proper places about that tittle or (o) as

Eliakim		Maaziah		void
Pelatiah		Binnui		Eprhraim
Seraiah		Abia		Zeboim

Sometimes one Vowel may be written as

Joel		riot		cruel		shimei poet		vial		fraud		dungeon

A tittle behind a Word at the bottom signifies an S and distinguishes the Singular from the plural as hats		islands		idolls		hills

A before R may be omitted (except it begin a Word as army arrow ark &c) as bar		gar		nar		star		barbar

char		Jar		marb		tar		harb
